Important Information about Savings and Money Market Accounts

In recognition of our customers' needs during this challenging time, beginning April 23, 2020, the limitation on certain transfers and withdrawals from savings and money market accounts, outlined in the Truth in Savings Disclosure and Terms and Conditions document under the Telephone Transfers section (on page 2) and Limitations on Frequency of Transfers section (on page 6), has been temporarily suspended.

Customers may conduct unlimited transfers and withdrawals from their savings or money market account. We won't charge a fee, send a letter or notice or take any other action in response to exceeding the customary six-transfer/withdrawal limit. We will notify you if withdrawal limitations and fees are reinstated.
